H-Bomb Test Is Postponed to Some Later Date

Wednesday, U.S. Time, Tentative Firing Day

Aboard USS Mt. McKinley, Bikini Atoll, May 7 (P)—Cautious H-bomb testers again today postponed firing shot Cherokee.

Dr. William E. Ogle, acting scientific test director for Joint Task Force 7, said the American test might take place Thursday.

Shad Boat Upsets

5 Rescued From River On Sunday

Four men and a 10-year-old boy clinging to the gunwale of a capsized 18-foot shad boat were rescued from the chill waters of the Hudson river Sunday afternoon by the quick action of another fisherman half a mile away.

HEARING SHOUTS for help and seeing heads bobbing in the river, Cecil Horan of Albany, a retired railroad conductor, cut loose approximately 300 feet of net from his shad boat and rushed to the scene.

Forrest Allen, 62, of Waterbury, Conn., and the boy, Daniel Lehan, suffering from exhaustion and shock, were pulled into Mr. Horan's boat and rushed to shore on the Hyde Park side. The other three men, Daniel Lehan, Sr., of East Park, Roland Marshall of Hyde Park, owner of the capsized boat and Wesley Jones of Waterbury were picked up by another fishing boat.

In Mr. Horan's boat were Theron Yawn of Staatsburg, manager of the Poughkeepsie office of the New York State Employment Service, and Mortimer Burger, also of Staatsburg, a neighbor of Mr. Yawn's. They assisted in rescue operations.

Mr. Yawn told The Freeman that Mr. Allen, reportedly unable to swim, was in "pretty bad shape" and couldn't have held out much longer.

HYDE PARK troopers had a doctor at the cove when the Horan boat docked. Mr. Horan has a small fishing shack on the cove, located at the Hyde Park railroad station. Mr. Allen was put to bed on a cot in the shack and supplied with hot coffee. In about an hour or two he was on his feet again.

Texas Parleys Expected To Pick Johnson as Boss

Austin, Tex., May 7 (P)—Few squabbles are expected as Texas' 254 county Democratic conventions are held tomorrow, most of them to put a stamp of approval on the decisions of rank-and-file members to make Sen. Lyndon Johnson the state's new party leader.

Johnson handed Gov. Allan his first political defeat in 22 years of public life Saturday to lead what the Senator calls a "moderate" 56-member Texas delegation to the Democratic National Convention in August. He also won landslide support as the state's "favorite son" candidate for the presidential nomination.

The Associated Press tally showed that Shivers carried only 41 counties in Saturday's precinct conventions while Johnson was rolling up 1,244 of the 1,900 votes to be cast in the state convention against 348 for Shivers.

The Senate majority leader who teamed with House Speaker Sam Rayburn to unseat Shivers as Texas party leader promised that the delegation he leads to the national convention will work to find the best candidate and come home and support him. That was a dig at Shivers' bolt from the party in 1952 to support Dwight D. Eisenhower, which helped lead Texas into the Republican fold.

Shivers yesterday conceded defeat but expressed some doubt as to whether Johnson himself won the Texas party leadership or whether "it was he, labor and the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People."

Shivers in a national television appearance said that Johnson's victory came through a combination of the senator's forces "with the radical element" in the Democratic party.

Johnson said that the people

Bikini time (Wednesday, U. S. time). But he also told newsmen he would not be surprised if the blast was delayed until May 15.

THE BLAST originally was slated tentatively for Tuesday and then for Wednesday.

Weather conditions were blamed each time.

The big bang is to be fired at several thousand feet after a drop from an intercontinental bomber, the multijet B52.

Testers decided to wait on the weather to make sure radioactive fallout doesn't drift outside the established danger zone as it did in 1954, when the Lucky Dragon, a Japanese fishing boat, was dusted with fallout and its crew of 23 sickened. One died.

TESTERS are being extra cautious. A sudden wind change and the fact that the 1954 bomb was more powerful than expected caused the contamination cloud to drift outside the designated danger zone.

That shot was fired almost at ground level and the huge fireball engulfed a part of a coral island, sending up large amounts of highly radioactive material.

Shot Cherokee will be exploded several thousand feet in the air and radiologists say that will reduce the degree of contamination in the cloud.

NEWSMEN will get to interview B-52 crew members who drop the bomb but will not be permitted to question them about their mission—the first drop of an H-bomb from an American plane.

Reporters will get to see a display of jet-age test aircraft but will not get any close views that might disclose details of the bomb bay rig.

THE DELAY was announced as the Japanese press commented temperately on America's need for conducting the tests but expressed the firm conviction that all such tests should end.

Tokyo Shimbun, expressing regret that America had disregarded Japan's request that the test be suspended, noted that the United States "is taking every precaution to avoid bad effects from the experiments" this time.

WEINSTEIN, U. S. 2

Mainichi Shimbun, saying that "as long as there is no agreement among the United States, Great Britain and Soviet Russia to prohibit nuclear weapons," it is difficult to ask anyone to halt such experiments," added that "Japan must continue . . . to seek such a change."

Yomiuri Shimbun noted that unlike Russia the United States had announced its tests and set up a patrolled danger area, but of Texas had repudiated Shivers' campaign of "hated and prejudice" and voted for the "path of moderation."

While Shivers was in Washington for the television show, Johnson spent the day resting at his ranch home on the Pedernales river 65 miles west of here. He read stacks of newspapers with big "Johnson Wins" headlines, and took congratulatory phone calls from all parts of Texas and the nation on his victory.

Following the county conventions tomorrow, Texas Democrats meet in state convention at Dallas May 22. That convention names the Texas delegation, and it is expected to ratify precinct and county convention actions.

Rumors of the development, said the Newburgh News, indicated that it would be on an enormous scale, such as the possible transfer of First Army Headquarters from Governor's Island.

The Gannett News Service in Washington reported that an inquiry at the Pentagon indicated the possibility of an important announcement this week.

The area cited in the News report was at Bullville in Orange county and Galeville, 10 air miles away in Ulster county (near Wallkill.)

Tests, believed to be of some significance, were made at both places recently. The Galeville land, reported under study is a 660-acre tract, the site of an auxiliary airfield developed and used by Stewart Air Force Base during World War 2. It was later acquired by Ulster county and again returned for military use under control of the Army Engineer Corps.

First Army Headquarters, as now composed, has administrative office for army installations and activities in the northeast. It has the equivalent of two regiments on its base staff or approximately 7,000 soldiers and WACS.

H-BOMB COMMANDER—Major David Critchlow, of Sacramento, Calif., has been named to command the B-52 which will drop an Hydrogen bomb at Eniwetok scheduled for this week. (AP Wirephoto)

Votes Light In Maryland Primary Poll

Baltimore, May 7 (P)—Voting was reportedly extremely light during the first several hours of Maryland's primary election today, even with the names of Eisenhower and Kefauver as drawing cards.

The only exception was in Prince Georges county, southeast of the District of Columbia, where a congressional race perked up interest.

President Eisenhower on the Republican ticket and Sen. Estes Kefauver on the Democratic slate were running against unopposed delegations to the national conventions. Write-in voting and crossing party lines were prohibited.

THE MAIN interest still lay in ex-Sen. Millard E. Tydings' comeback attempt, after being out of the public eye since his defeat in 1950 by Sen. John Marshall Butler, Republican.

Pulling the heavy Prince Georges vote was a contest for the Democratic nomination from the Fifth Congressional District between Rep. Richard E. Lankford and L. Harold Sotheron.

Lankford is completing his first term in the House. Sotheron, a veteran state legislator, has the support of the Democratic organization in the county, largest in the district.

THE HEAVY VOTE there, however, wasn't expected to effect substantially the outcome of statewide races.

The weather provided no great encouragement to voters. Overcast skies, with occasional showers, covered the state. The temperature was in the 60s.

Tydings was in a nip-and-tuck race with paving contractor George P. Mahoney for the Democratic nomination to the U. S. Senate. Three other candidates were conceded little chance.

The Tydings and Mahoney campaigns were generally mild, both placing emphasis on shaking voters' hands. There was little change of personal criticism.

Mahoney voted at 7 a. m. near his home at Owings Mills, near Baltimore. Tydings cast his ballot at the elementary school at Aberdeen about 9:30 a. m. Both appeared jovial but failed to

Army May Move Main Base To Southern Ulster Sector

Prospects of an important U. S. Army development in a southern Ulster and northern Orange county area were being discussed there today as the result of an announcement in Newburgh Saturday.

Rumors of the development, said the Newburgh News, indicated that it would be on an enormous scale, such as the possible transfer of First Army Headquarters from Governor's Island.

The Gannett News Service in Washington reported that an inquiry at the Pentagon indicated the possibility of an important announcement this week.

Air Raid Warning Signals Will Change on Thursday

New air raid warning signals, conforming to the national pattern, will go into effect throughout New York state on Thursday.

Maj. H. Edgar Timmerman, director of Ulster-Kingston Civil Defense Council, today announced that all Civil Defense operations in Ulster county will conform to new regulations.

HE SAID all local town directors will check their signalling devices and make sure that this type of signal can be utilized with present equipment.

The State Civil Defense Commission according to the Associated Press had been reluctant to change the long-established signals. But the Commission Chairman, Adm. Alan G. Kirk (ret.), announced yesterday that the changes have been adopted to conform with the recommended national standardization.

THE ALL-CLEAR signal has been eliminated because of varying conditions that would exist in the event of radioactive fallout. Kirk explained that the hazards of radioactive fallout make it inadvisable to clear shelters in various areas at the same time.

Kirk said an all-clear signal may be given locally by the local civil defense director, and this would be done by radio announcement, public address systems or individual contact instead of by a siren signal.

The changes were recommended by the Federal Civil Defense Administration, and they already have been adopted by numerous states.

THE NEW SIGNALS and their significance are:

1. Alert—A steady blast of three to five minutes duration. This signal will be sounded by sirens, whistles or similar devices.

The Jaycee Teen Age Road-e-o, scheduled yesterday, was postponed because of rain and will be held Sunday, May 13 at 1 p. m. at Dietz Stadium.

Plan to Save $250,000

Washington, May 7 (P)—The Internal Revenue Service is going to shrink DeWitt Clinton's picture a fraction of an inch, saving the taxpayers an estimated $250,000 a year.

The average taxpayer probably doesn't have the foggiest notion where Clinton's picture figures. Some observant cigarette smokers might. A picture of Clinton, with his hand to his face, graces the revenue stamp on very cigarette package.

Thus Clinton, in a way, is sort of agent for the government in helping to reap about $1,600,000,000 of income each year from cigarette smokers. Some 20 billion stamps a year are sold to cigarette manufacturers.

Franklin L. Thatcher, chief of the revenue service's publications branch, thought up the idea. Thatcher told a reporter the changeover wouldn't have been possible "without the cooperation of the manufacturers who are having to make changes in their method of affixing the stamps."

NETS 'BIGGEST' CATCH—Capt. Tonnes Anderson, 54, skipper of 67-foot trawler Jenny, smiles on return to port at Point Pleasant N. J. (May 5) over the big catch his fishing nets couldn't handle the week of Apr. 22. Anderson learned recently by radio that Jenny had netted the Navy's atom-powered sub Nautilus as sub ran into net on its way home to Groton, Conn. Before trawler's net and cable were ripped off, the Jenny was pulled backward at 20 knots by the Navy's pride and joy. Sub reached Groton Saturday with part of net streaming from superstructure and the only damage was to a running light. Anderson wasn't impressed, but put in bill for $1,300 for his net and cable. Man Sought As Sniper Surrenders

New York, May 7 (P)—Tony Tudorache, sought for questioning in a fatal shooting at a church Saturday night, surrendered to the district attorney today.

Tudorache, a 60-year-old handyman, vanished after the wild sniping assault at St. Dumitru's Romanian Orthodox Church.

POLICE found a rifle and ammunition in the man's room in a building across the street. The window commanded a perfect view of the church vestibule.

The church warden, Vasili Cucuia, 66, was killed and five persons were wounded as bullets peppered a crowd of worshippers outside the church for midnight services.

Asst. Dist. Atty. David Worgan said Tudorache, alias Tony Sava, alias Costachi Mihalachi, had surrendered.

"I understand I'm wanted for questioning," the man reportedly said as he walked into the office of Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan about 9:10 a. m.

WHETHER Cucuia was the intended target was not known.

Former Romanian Princess Ileana, one of the worshippers, said the sniper "tried to kill either me or the priest or both of us."

She said the sniper may have been "a tool of the Communists." "They hate the church and the royal family tremendously," she added.

The ex-princess is a sister of the late King Carol of Romania.

THE CHURCH'S priest, the Very Rev. Florian Caldu, was twice jailed by the Communists in Bucharest before coming here as a refugee. He said Tudorache was a "trained agent" of the Communists and was sent to make trouble.

Tudorache "has threatened me and very many others of the congregation," Father Caldu added.

The priest said Tudorache objected last week to hanging a picture of the late Queen Marie of Romania in an exhibition of peasant art at the church. He was not a member of the congregation.

BUT POLICE denied any Communist angle to the shooting.

"Let's not make a foreign intrigue drama out of this," said Detective Chief James Leggett.

Four persons reported slight injuries after three weekend, city traffic mishaps.

Stanley Joseph Woinoski, 21, of 70 Murray street, reported injuries of the forehead and right knee, and Myrna Rodick, 13, of St. Albans, suffered an injury of the right side in a two-car collision at John and Wall streets Sunday night.

Doris Shoemaker, 7, of Lanesville, suffered a head injury in another two-car mishap on Clinton avenue, Saturday and Joseph Schneider, 22, of 144 Hunter street, reported an injury of the left knee when his car struck a pole near 11 West Union street Saturday night.

Officers Thomas McGrane and Meyer Levy reported at 6:58 p. m., Sunday that the Woinoski sedan was headed north on Wall street and the car of Clifford C. Hawkins, 59, of 174-11 Adelaide road, St. Albans, was going east on John street, when they collided.

Build-up of Communist Military Danger Threat

Washington, May 7 (P)—The administration told Congress today the proposed $4,900,000,000 foreign aid program is vitally needed to keep up free world defenses against a "Communist military build-up" which presents "augmented dangers."

John B. Hollister, director of the International Cooperation Administration (ICA), told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that the program calls for a half billion dollars to supply allies with "advanced weapons."

IN ADVANCE of the hearing, Chairman George (D-Ga.) said he doubts the country would be willing to accept as a permanent policy anything less than equality with Russia in a long-range bombing force.

He referred to President Eisenhower's news conference statement last Friday that in the over-all defense effort it isn't necessary to outbuild the Russians in the one field of intercontinental bombers. Eisenhower said the United States has tremendous air striking power from other sources.

Hollister testified that as part of the foreign aid program about $195,000,000 has been allocated to countries in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).

OTHER FUNDS will be apportioned later, he said, after further study of how allies can make best use of advanced weapons.

"This advanced weapons program is important, first because it will provide our allies with weapons designed effectively to counter the growing potential of Communist forces, and second, because it will serve to reassure our allies that we are doing all in our power to assist them in building a modern defense for our mutual effort," Hollister said.

HE DID NOT specify what weapons would be involved in the program for the fiscal year that begins July 1.

In urging approval of the entire program, Hollister said: "Although today Soviet tactics are placing greater emphasis on economic overtures to the less developed nations, there is no indication that the danger of military aggression is over."

"Communist military build-up in many parts of the world and Communist distribution of modern weapons provide augmented dangers to the free world. Military assistance is still needed and defense efforts can not be relaxed in any degree."

GEORGE (D-Ga.) said the committee hopes to conclude hearings next week even while the House Foreign Affairs Committee continues its consideration of the program which has come under attack in Congress.

Hollister championed President Eisenhower's request for authority to make commitments of up to 100 million dollars a year in foreign economic aid for a period up to 10 years.

However, he said, would give Eisenhower flexible authority to help friendly nations with war.

Dulles to Report to Ike On NATO Responsibility

Washington, May 7—Secretary of State Dulles returns from Paris today to report to President Eisenhower on initial efforts to give the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) added responsibilities.

A NATO council meeting at Paris adopted an idea proposed by Dulles for creation of a committee of "three wise men" to survey NATO's possibilities for expanded usefulness and report back next fall. Named to the task were foreign ministers Lester B. Pearson of Canada, Gaetano Martino of Italy and Halvard Lange of Norway.

Another traveling diplomat, presidential assistant Harold E. Stassen, returned home from London yesterday with word that this country soon will embark on a broad review of its disarmament policies.

Stassen, whose responsibility is disarmament, predicted Russia also will make a restudy of her policies on arms reduction. Stassen was chief U. S. representative at a seven-week meeting in London of the United Nations disarmament subcommittee.

In a brief New York stopover, Stassen said earlier "this next year holds the best chance of an 'arms reduction' agreement if, in a restudy of the issues, Moscow becomes convinced of the basic logic of President Eisenhower's proposals" for mutual aerial inspection.

Dulles, who left Paris yesterday, was due in Washington in mid-afternoon.

Officials said he would report promptly to Eisenhower, who sent him off to Europe a week ago with instructions to seek means of making the North Atlantic grouping of nations into something more than a military alliance.

Tomorrow night Dulles will report to the nation. He will speak at a dinner of B'nai B'rith here with an immediate audience of about 1,500 persons. State department officials said broadcast plans for the speech will be disclosed later.

Four Slightly Injured Here In Weekend Traffic Mishaps

Four persons reported slight injuries after three weekend, city traffic mishaps.

A report at 6:15 p. m., Saturday by Francis J. Hoffman, 35, of 184 Highland avenue, said a car owned by Frank P. Hoffman, of 82 Foxhall avenue, was traveling over Clinton avenue when it was struck by a car operated by Kenneth Quick, of Willow, near John street.

Officers Everett Emmick and Carlo Perry reported at 7:55 p. m., Saturday that the sedan of Joseph Schneider was headed east on West Union street when it struck a pole of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., near 11 West Union street and damaged two sections of sidewalk on a property owned by Louis Ellenbogen.

The car was towed from the scene and Schneider was to be treated by a doctor for a knee injury, the report said.

Napanoch Man Is Found by Wife, Suicide in Barn

Louis E. Hoff, 60, a farmer and resident of Napanoch for the past 32 years, died suddenly late Saturday morning as the result of self-inflicted gunshot wounds.

Ellenville state police said Mr. Hoff, despondent for several years, shot himself in the stomach with a 16-gauge shotgun in a barn near his home. Cpl. Frank Steinkamp and Trooper J. S. Metzger, BCI, and Cpl. N. G. Leakes and Trooper Mike Mahoney, who investigated, reported that Mr. Hoff found his body about an hour after he had left the house to go to the barn.

Troopers reported that Mr. Hoff had threatened suicide on several occasions in recent years. Coroner Charles Rosenstock of Ellenville issued a verdict of death by suicide.

Mr. Hoff was born in Ulster Heights, son of the late John W. and Edith Bennett Hoff.

Surviving besides his widow, Georgia, is a daughter, Mrs. Franklin Brown of Napanoch; four sisters, Mrs. Mary Marinus of New York city, Mrs. Russell Bliss of Kerhonkson, Mrs. Frank Distel and Mrs. George Betts.

U. S. Steel Head Says Profits Are Eaten by Inflation
Hoboken, N. J., May 7 (AP)—To help meet the nation's steel needs, United States Steel Corp. will have to expand its capacity by a million tons a year for 10 years, Board Chairman Roger M. Blough told the annual shareholders meeting today.

But, said Blough, a substantial part of the company's earnings are "eaten up" by inflation, most of which is being used for expansion, are "phantom profits" . . . eaten up by inflation, almost before we get them.

After inflation takes its toll from the profits, Blough said, the money available "cannot finance progress," but must be used merely to replace worn-out steel-making capacity.

"During the past 10 years alone, our plant and equipment costs have more than doubled," he said.

"The root of the difficulty in providing funds both for replacement of facilities and for tremendous expansion, Blough said, 'lies in the inadequacy of the normal depreciation provisions of the law.'

"The time has come, I think, when Congress should face squarely to the fact that these depreciation provisions no longer serve the purpose for which they were intended," said Blough. "It is time to reexamine this law and to revise it realistically."

Rockland CD Drill Surprises Motorists
Haverstraw, N. Y., May 7 (AP)—A 15-minute civil defense drill halted thousands of surprised motorists in Rockland county yesterday.

All roads leading into the county from neighboring New Jersey and Orange county, N. Y., were closed.

Traffic inside the county was stopped and motorists were ordered to take shelter when the drill started at 2 p. m.

But traffic was allowed to continue on the New York Thruway. Many of the motorists pulled to the side of the expressway, however, as convoys of emergency vehicles sped past with sirens wailing.

The emergency vehicles, from Westchester county across the Hudson river, were ordered to the scene of a theoretical atomic bomb blast.

The "All clear" came at 2:15 p. m.

William J. Brophy, Rockland county civil defense director, said the exercise was a "decided success."

New York, May 7 (AP) — The 1956 Pulitzer prizes in journalism, letters and music will be announced today.

Entries for the journalism awards totaled 718 this year—the largest number ever submitted. The previous high was 532 in 1954.

Several hundred entries were also sent in for consideration for prizes in letters—fiction, history, biography and poetry.

The trustees of Columbia University vote on the awards today and announce the winners shortly after 3 p. m. (EDT).

The Pulitzer prizes were established by the late publisher Joseph Pulitzer in a bequest to the university.

Daniels Return

New York, May 7 (AP)—Clifton Daniel says he and his bride, the former Margaret Truman, aren't "news anymore." The couple returned from a two-week honeymoon in Nassau last night. "We're an old married couple now," said Daniel. "We're not news anymore." Daniel, an assistant to the foreign news editor of the New York Times, said he and Margaret will live in her apartment until they find a place of their own. Mrs. Daniel said she would continue her television work as long as it doesn't interfere with her husband's career.

Unknown Soldier Honored by IOOF

Washington, May 7 (AP)—More than 4,000 members of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows (IOOF) and supporting services made their 22nd annual pilgrimage yesterday to the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery.

The pilgrimage, led by Sovereign Grand Master H. Sanders Angles, vice mayor of Nashville, Tenn., has been recognized nationally since 1940 when the War Department accepted on behalf of the Unknown Soldier the order's Decoration of Chivalry, the only fraternal jewel in the tomb's Hall of Trophies.

UNDER SUNNY spring skies the Patriarchs Militant Army in full uniform, Associations of Ladies Assemblies, Rebekahs Assemblies, and their families moved by motorcade from their Washington hotel headquarters to the national cemetery tomb and amphitheater.

Saturday night the gathering pilgrims were addressed in annual banquet by Brig. Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, army deputy chief of staff for reserve components.

Angles delivered the address at the Arlington Amphitheater preceding the laying of 53 wreaths from various jurisdictions of the IOOF, at the base of the Unknown Soldier's tomb.

AMONG THE wreath bearers was Annapolis midshipman H. McCauley of Flagstaff, Ariz., representing his father Shelby McCauley, Grand Secretary of the Grand Lodge of Arizona.

The theme of Angles' memorial address was that "the most valuable possession any individual can own is his freedom; freedom to worship as one pleases, freedom to walk alone or with a friend, freedom from want, freedom from fear, freedom to write as we please, freedom of speech and freedom of assembly such as we have today."

William P. Gragg of Lexington, Ky., major general in the Patriarchs Militant Army and Director of Public Relations for the Sovereign Grand Lodge, said that "while we do not know that the Unknown Soldier was an Odd Fellow, we can't assume that he wasn't. Our offering of the Decoration of Chivalry, corresponding to the Congressional Medal of Honor, was because he died defending the principles of the order—Universal brotherhood and justice under God."

THE MOTORCADE and pilgrimage ceremonies were under direction of William F. Soaper Jr. of Warrenton, Va., commanding general. Other officials present included L. S. Bridges of Baton Rouge, La., deputy sovereign grand master; E. G. Ludvigsen of Baltimore, sovereign grand secretary and adjutant general; Mrs. Margaret Watts of Twin Falls, Idaho, president of the International Assn. of Rebekah Assemblies.

Lady Naomi Cooper of Washington, D. C., president of the International Assn. of Ladies Assemblies, patriarchs militant; Miss Beatrice Dever of Montreal, Quebec, treasurer of the Rebekah Assemblies and Lady Ruth H. Gage of Burlington, Vt., and past president of the International Ladies Auxiliaries.

PUZZLING TIMING

Vice President Nixon's announcement of availability certainly occasioned slight surprise in knowledgeable political circles. What is of more interest is speculation over why the declaration was made at just this time.

If personal doubts were involved in the delay, it is perhaps understandable. Nixon may have been genuinely torn on the question where his own best future interest lies. Some see the vice presidency as a political graveyard, and this aspect of the matter undoubtedly got its share of Nixon's attention.

Where his decision is bound up with larger issues, particularly the Republican party's fortunes, Nixon's statement now is a trifle more puzzling.

He is, of course, a controversial figure both within and without his party. But the opposition to him within GOP ranks never was of such force as to give him serious pause. On the contrary, many party leaders from the President on down made it clear he was rated desirable as a second-term nominee.

Outside the party the story was different. A good many independents and Democrats who voted for Mr. Eisenhower in 1952 indicated their disapproval of Nixon on the ground he was a rough and ruthless partisan campaigner.

Some of these, remembering the President's heart attack, felt they might be voting for Nixon as a man likely to reach the presidency before 1960.

Observers thought they discerned shrewd caution in the oblique way many leading Republicans handled queries about Nixon's candidacy. They felt that if silence prevailed this would give the party a certain flexibility in case events between now and convention time suggested another candidate would be more helpful to the party ticket.

There was feeling, too, that such a "strategy" protected Nixon from being too ready a target for the Democrats.

Yet underneath it all the conviction was strong that the key GOP men not only wanted Nixon but believed dumping him would do the Republicans more harm than good. In other words, they thought that the loss of votes resulting from his candidacy would be more than offset by the internal divisions incident to an open fight for the vice presidential nomination.

Now, if there ever was a "strategy" of delay, it should be as good today as it was a month ago. From this point on, the Democrats know whom they are shooting at, and can pour on the fire. And for all practical purposes, the GOP has lost any flexibility it might have had in setting up its ticket.

But if there was no such "strategy," it is hard to see why it was necessary to wait this long to declare. For Nixon surely has realized for many weeks that the Republicans with decisive voice considered his re-nomination best for the party under all presently imagined circumstances.

The full details of this chapter of Republican history, and of Nixon's personal life, will make fascinating reading. The surface story we have in hand only seems to raise more questions than it answers. But it has answered the question who will be on the Republican presidential ballot in November. The San Francisco GOP convention now looms as little more than a pageant.

Scientists are studying the sea-cucumber on the theory that the creature may help fight cancer. Some of the strangest odds and ends in the world do turn out to be useful.

Many men have managed to climb to the top of their chosen fields of work. The truly successful ones are those who still remember how difficult the steps were along the way.

There is nothing so comforting, most men will agree, as a woman's voice—or, also, so shrill and penetrating.

THE RAIDERS

In most companies in this country, its success, in a competitive market, is attributed to the management group who gave their fruitful years working for it, and, of course, were adequately compensated.

Suddenly it is noticeable that there is unusual activity in the stock. The unusual activity would indicate that the company is being raided. Investigation does not always disclose who is buying the stock in quantities and at prices which would indicate that the object is to gain its control. Often such well-managed and well-established corporations have a considerable cash position and the raiders figure that even if they overpay for the stock, they can get their money back by siphoning off the ready cash of the company.

Often these stock purchases are in "street" names; that is, a brokerage house makes the purchase in its own name but does not disclose the correct owner who may be an American or a European who may have his funds in Switzerland which refuses to disclose the names of depositors. Sometimes the true owner of the money is an underworld character who has managed to transfer "hot" money to Europe where it becomes legitimate money. "Hot" money is money upon which no income taxes have been paid. It is very difficult to transfer such money to legitimate business but it can be done by the intermediate step of getting the "hot" money out of the United States and then investing it in American industry through corporations registered in Switzerland, Liechtenstein, Monaco, Tangier, and a number of other countries, including Canada.

The raider then gets enough stock in his possession either to control the company or to seat a number of his agents on the Board of Directors. These agents may or may not know the actual owner of the stock but they are associated with the front man who usually has a reputation of being a smart operator, particularly in the accumulation of reservoirs of capital for investment. Often a 20 to 40 per cent ownership will produce control, depending upon the organization of the business. In some of the largest corporations, the control is vested in directors who only own enough stock to qualify, but the raiders cannot get into these enormous corporations in good years because in a proxy fight, they generally lose out.

Of course, whoever owns the stock of a company has a right to control it. Normally, men of means or groups possessing capital buy into operations; they are put on the Board of Directors, and as their object is to make money, they usually do not wreck the enterprise, although the early history of raiding in the United States is a gruesome picture of raiding and wrecking for a profit.

The current danger in raiding falls under two hypotheses:

1. A share, large or small, of the capital which the raiders employ is not their own, but represents underworld "hot" money, shifted from the United States to some other country where it is legitimized by becoming the possession of a foreign corporation whose true ownership is not disclosed. The reason why such an hypothesis must be given every consideration is that otherwise those engaged in, let us say, the narcotic traffic, which must be an unreported cash transaction, have no way of legitimizing their money. The sudden influx of capital for raiding purposes would create a suspicion that such funds have become legitimized.

2. There are no reliable figures on the movement of gold from Soviet Russia into the Western world, except for a comparatively small shipment to London. Yet it is known that Soviet Russia has been mining gold in several Siberian fields, particularly the Lena field. Therefore the hypothesis must be considered as within reason that some of the undisclosed accounts may be Russian or satellite investments through European intermediaries in American companies, not only with the object of controlling them but with the more important object of causing havoc in the market at a chosen moment.

No investigation of either of these hypotheses has yet taken place nor is there any satisfactory data on the subject, except two sets of facts:

1. Raiding is increasing in American corporations by persons whose financial responsibility does not give with the amounts of money used in raiding.

2. There are about 11 countries with corporate laws and tax arrangements which lend themselves to raiding.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

PROGRESS IN DIGESTIVE DISEASES—1955

In an editorial in the magazine Postgraduate Medicine, Dr. Morris Fishbein reviews the progress that has been made in the digestive diseases during the past few years. He points out that one of the greatest problems in medicine is to adapt the tremendous advances made in such basic sciences as pharmacology and biochemistry to the care of the patient.

"The important new drugs like Miltown, reserpine and chlorpromazine, which are grouped under the general term of tranquilizers, undoubtedly have a significant effect on the incidence and treatment of ulcer of the duodenum and stomach. The psychosomatic (mind and emotion) causation of these conditions is generally accepted. Conceivably the scientific use of these substances may diminish the need for psychiatric consultation."

During the past quarter century many different approaches to the problem of excess acid associated with ulcer have been made available. There are drugs like acetaminophen which lower acidity when injected into the veins. The chemical approach which involves giving alkalies to counterbalance the acid has been supplemented by the mechanical approach (substances that coat the lining of the stomach), the neurologic approach (drugs that control the nerves used in secreting acid), and the physiologic approach (cutting or otherwise rendering useless the action of the vagus nerve—the nerve controlling motion and sensation of most of the organs of the abdomen, and removing various amounts of the stomach itself).

The widespread occurrence of hepatitis (inflammation of the liver) is a cause for alarm. Today dogs are being inoculated against hepatitis; children suffer in epidemics which may not always produce jaundice but can cause listlessness, poor appetite, failure to gain weight, fever, and bowel difficulties. It is being prevented and treated with gamma globulin.

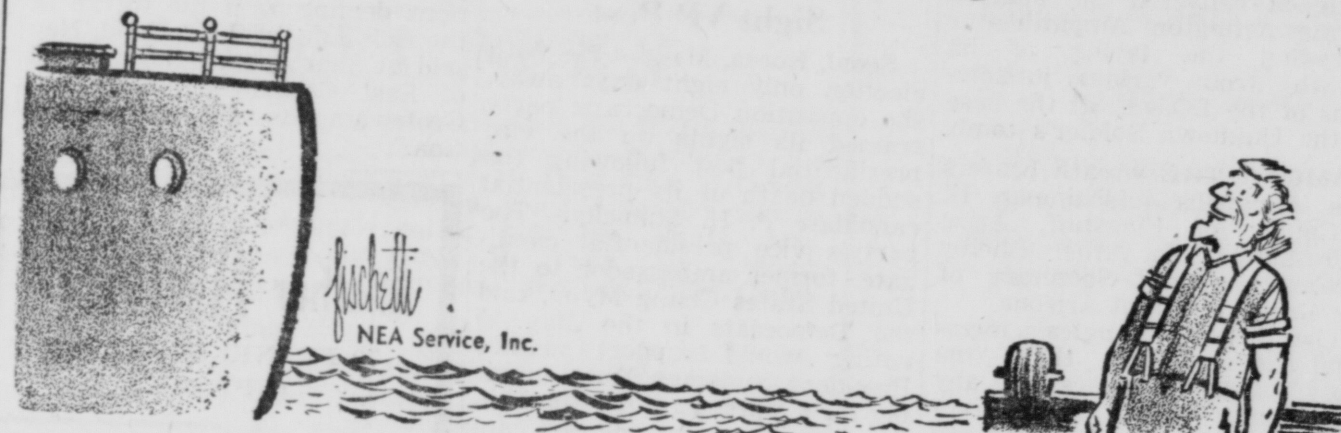

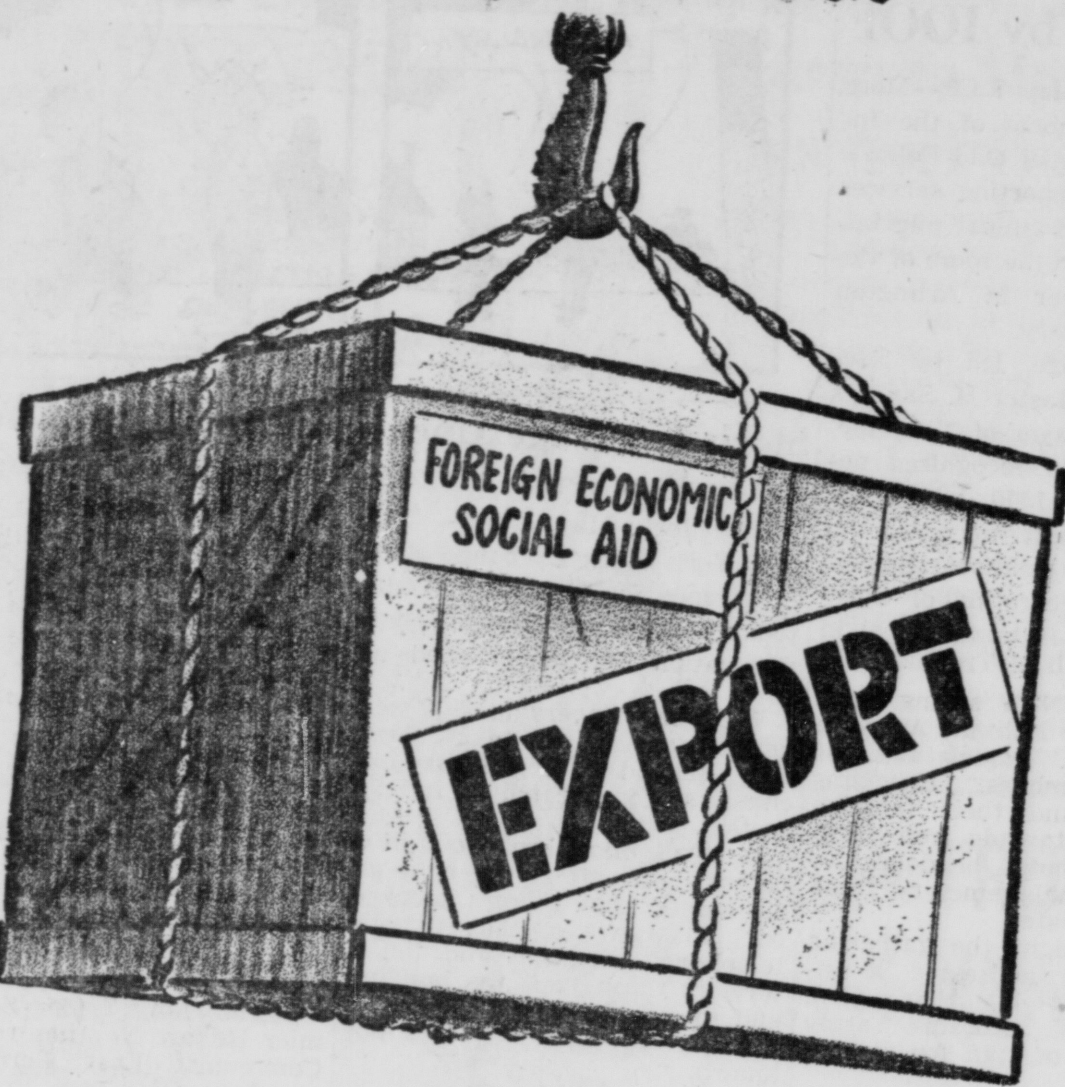

Medical scientists are attacking the solution or cirrhosis (hardening) of the liver, often associated with chronic alcoholism, through a variety of measures. Recent research has shown that taking small amounts of alcohol in the usual manner does not harm the liver, as revealed by the results of a whole battery of liver function tests. Possibly, the harm that comes to the liver is the result of the essential vitamins and proteins which are not taken during long sieges of alcoholism. New methods of treatment include increased use of glucose. ACTH and cortisone are being tried with a view to decreasing inflammation and to stopping the tendency to bleeding and anemia associated with this condition.

And so the work of the research teams go on, each year racking up some gains in the endless battle against suffering.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent
Washington (NEA) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is making his 24th round trip, transoceanic flight in three years to attend the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Council meeting in Paris.

He has logged over 333,000 miles on the job.

There are those who belittle these travels by Gulliver Dulles. They say he doesn't have his feet on the ground enough and he's up in the air too much. The eagle around Washington is that Dulles travels so much because it makes him think that he's getting somewhere.

But he puts his show on the road—or in the air, rather—by S.O.P., Standard Operating Procedure. When he says departure time is 2:30, that means wheels in the air. He gets pretty impatient waiting for people who have to be rushed out to the end of the runway to get aboard. He never arrives ahead of time, either. He doesn't like to inconvenience the officials who have to meet him.

HIS TROUPE NUMBERED eight for the Paris NATO trip. It never numbers more than a dozen. Mrs. Dulles has gone on all his missions but one. The secretary's personal secretary, Phyllis Bernau, is the only other woman aboard. The rest are assistant secretaries and top staff advisers.

The Dulles wardrobe is carried in zippered hang-up bags so the garments are never folded and always arrive pressed. The secretary carries a folding bedboard to tuck under the mattress or featherbed. Foreign beds are too soft for him.

He always takes a swim suit. He has found that time is best killed by a dip when a plane is held up by bad weather.

Taking a good soak is one of the principal secrets of the 68-year-old secretary's ability to withstand his punishment. No matter where he is, at the end of each day's work, first thing he does is fill a tub with hot water and splash in.

He steps out of the tub fresh as a daisy. He takes a highball or two and then he's ready for dinner.

Wherever he is, Mr. Dulles is a before-seven riser. He puts on an old bathrobe and shaves. He uses a safety razor, but none of these newfangled shaving cream preparations. It's always the old faithful brush and soap.

He gets to his desk before most of his help and he usually has all the overnight dispatches read before he sees anyone. Staff conference is 9:15 sharp. Every day is scheduled right down to the last minute.

He never lets his job get ahead of him. If he has a speech to make or a conference to attend, he starts working on it weeks ahead of time.

He dictates the first draft of state papers to Miss Bernau from notes on a yellow pad. This goes to assistants for criticism. Sometimes staff members don't agree. In conference, Dulles will let anyone talk as much as he pleases, provided the speaker makes sense. If the staff reaches an im-passé, Dulles breaks up the conference. Then, when he can, he lies down on a couch to read a mystery story. He lets his subconscious mind work on the problem.

Then he gets out the yellow pad and writes his own opinion, summons the staff and says, "We'll do it this way."

SECRETARY DULLES never worries about past mistakes. Also, he never tells his troubles to his wife. They talk about her day, not his.

Normally, he turns in at 10:30 and sleeps like a babe. He can even sleep on an airplane. Somehow, he manages to come back from these man-killing missions untired.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, May 6 — Conrad Hilton, the hotel man, is the sort of fellow I like to encourage so I tell you what I am going to do. I am going to become Mr. Hilton's Horsepark Herbie Swope. For years and years, almost whenever you would catch a newspaper or newsreel shot of Bayne Baruch, the revered elder statesman, you would see Horsepark Herbie, too. People used to wonder whether Horsepark hung around with Barney to get his picture taken or Barney hung around Herbie. Anyway, they got their pictures taken a great many times and it was Horsepark who coined the term "revered elder statesman" as Runyon called Firpo the wild bull of the Pampano and Truman called one of my colleagues in Washington a S.O.B. It takes genius. That's me.

I also used to think Herbie was Barney's press agent but once when I had the naive but well-meant gall to ask, his nostrils flared, his hat leaped arched in a shock of horror and he said: "Press agent! I am his policy consultant. He seeks my counsel at the policy level." I said, "Do you mean you tell him to think about all the different kinds of problems?" Herbie said it would be useless to pursue the subject. But I am always striving and I studied and studied so I think I now can measure up to my ambition to become Connie Hilton's policy consultant.

This boy of mine is a sleeper. People do not realize what a great proposition he is. Mr. Hilton, a year shy of 70, is a frontiersman from the time and place of Billy the Kid and all them. He was born in San Antonio and you may say, oh heck, a million guys have been born in San Antonio, but that's all you know. Not this San Antonio, New Mexico, not Texas; and that is like saying he was born in a wide spot on a trail where someone had put down a well and a clump of cottonwoods had sprung up. Do you know of anyone else who ever was born in San Antonio, New Mexico? Ask yourself that! So my boy's very life began with unique distinction. Later he built hotels in Lubbock, Longview, Waco, Marlin and El Paso. You may say, yes, but what kind of hotels?

Okay, but just the same he has got the Hilton Waldorf-Astoria in New York, the Hilton (formerly Chicago) and the Hilton in Hilton City (formerly Mexico City) in the friendly republic of Hilton (formerly Mexico). My boy is coming along and, with my ideas, he will be a man of destiny. Why heck, at the age of 55 he married Sari (Zsa-Zsa) Gabor, the shy, demure little beauty who did not marry Porfirio Rubirosa, the roving ambassador of the Dominican Republic, although capacious and prize-winning critics a couple of years ago were going "tsk-tsk-tsk! She certainly ought to!"

Well, as I say, my boy married Zsa-Zsa. You say "huh, that is nothing," but let me ask you this: Did you ever marry Zsa-Zsa? Did you ever even marry her mother, Jolie? If not, shut your big trap. Always belittling!

Glass-House Saying Applied To 'Liberal' Attacks on Nixon

Washington, May 7 — There's an old saying that "people in glass houses shouldn't throw stones," and it might be applied in one of the issues facing Adlai Stevenson and the group of so-called "liberals" who have been trying to smear Vice-President Nixon with unproved charges.

Mr. Stevenson has not said a word to the American people, for example, about the strange behavior of the chairman of the "Americans for Democratic Action" — an organization which supported him so enthusiastically in 1952 and from which group he drafted some of the principal advisers in his campaign.

Does Mr. Stevenson approve of what the chairman of that group did recently in trying to "get" a United States Senator? Will Mr. Stevenson accept support from the "Ada" once more? The question is raised in the current issue of "The Saturday Evening Post" in an editorial that has stirred political circles in Washington. Its full text follows:

"TWO MONTHS seems long enough to wait for some indication as to how the faultlessly tailored members of Americans for Democratic Action feel about their chairman, Mr. Joseph L. Rauh Jr.

"There are good reasons to wonder. On Feb. 3, one Paul H. Hughes was acquitted in a New York Federal court of two charges of perjury. One charge was that Hughes lied when he testified previously that he had overheard Mr. Rauh talk on the telephone with Brig. Gen. Telford Taylor (retired), another A. D. A. official, concerning arrangements to give financial assistance to Harvey Matusow, the in-and-out witness who recanted testimony he had given in several trials of Communists. The jury found Hughes not guilty.

"Upon four other charges growing out of Hughes' efforts to palm himself off to liberal groups as a former member of Sen. McCarthy's staff with important 'dirt' to sell, the jury disagreed. It was testified that among those who fell for Hughes' fabrications were some of the brass of 'The Washington Post' and Mr. Rauh of the A. D. A.

"RAUH TESTIFIED that he did not know that the Hughes material was phony although some of it was so preposterous that it ought not to have deceived even the most dedicated liberal. Hughes testified that he knew that the material was fictitious. Despite the fact that it was Rauh's word against that of a confessed forger whom his own lawyer described as a 'louse,' the jury could not reach a verdict.

"The thing which might reasonably be troubling the membership of A. D. A. is its chairman's involvement in practices which A. D. A. and its allies have consistently condemned and which they have accused Sen. McCarthy of employing. The A. D. A. has waxed eloquent against the use of informers by the Department of Justice, but it seemed willing to avail itself of the services of a man who represented himself as an informer and a purveyor of documents.

"Sen. McCarthy has been a pain in the neck to many Americans, including so-called Right-Wingers, but the evidence in the Hughes trial seems to indicate that in A. D. A. circles 'McCarthyism' is not considered reprehensible when practiced by dedicated liberals against 'reactionaries' and their ilk.

"ANYWAY it would be enlightening to learn whether there are any back-benchers in A. D. A. who are even mildly disturbed by their chairman's carryings on. At the moment the betting is the other way. If Mr. Rauh does not get a grant from the Fund for the Republic, invitations to give the Thomas Jefferson lectures at four Ivy League universities and the applause of all right-thinking 'liberals' he has a right to be disappointed man."

Some other aspects of the same question were discussed by Sen. Goldwater of Arizona, Republican, in a speech in the Senate which was printed in "The Congressional Record" on April 16 last. Mr. Goldwater mentioned "the role of the Democratic National Committee in this sordid conspiracy and specifically the part played by Mr. Clayton Fritchey, deputy chairman of the committee and editor of 'The Democratic Digest.' The Arizona Senator called on 'Candidate Stevenson' to take a good look at the Hughes case and added:

"In all, Mr. Fritchey handed over $2,500 to Hughes, and his friend Joseph L. Rauh Jr., of A. D. A. Left-Wing fame, tossed an additional $8,500 in the till to keep Hughes' imagination well oiled so that the supply of scandalous memoranda would not dry up."

THERE ARE many unsolved puzzles in the Hughes case. Messrs. Fritchey and Rauh and the others who paid money to Hughes had a perfect right, of course, to look into the offerings of a man who claimed to have reliable information which, if true, could lead to the expulsion of Sen. McCarthy. But just why it took so many months to discover that Hughes was not an employee of either the Senate or of Sen. McCarthy, as Hughes claimed, and why the money was doled out to Hughes over so long a period of time has never been adequately explained.

Nor is it clear why the Senate itself doesn't take up the Hughes case. For it has a committee especially ordered to investigate improper attempts to influence United States Senators. There have been Senate hearings on attempts indirectly to contribute to a Senator's campaign fund in connection with legislation and lots of front-page stuff was developed last week about some telephone calls made by a couple of clerks at the White House as a courtesy to a lawyer who happens to have been campaign manager in past years for three prominent personalities in the Republican party — Sen. Knowland, Chief Justice Warren and Vice-President Nixon.

YET THE Hughes case involves something that touches far more intimately the integrity of the Senate than did the episode in connection with the pending bill. For the Hughes case reveals, in a court of law, evidence that efforts were made to use several thousands of dollars to intimidate into silence or to influence in some way the course of action of a United States Senator whose speeches in fighting the Communist menace in America happen to have been distasteful to political groups and organizations opposed to his views.

Mahal and we will take up collections for the poor. After all, they sell peanuts, post-cards and pennants at Hyde Park, don't they? Do they give the money to the poor; or to anybody? So you can see my idea is really very, very spiritual. After all, people have got to have a place to sleep on the road, don't they? So why should they not have the very, very best accommodations in the de luxe Hilton Taj Mahal in teaming, mysterious Hilton (formerly India)?

Well, when we get this well under way we will spring a real surprise, the Hilton Versailles Palace in Hilton, presently known as Versailles, France.

And, finally, this will be the wham-sock! We are going to do Buckingham Palace over as the Hilton Buckingham Palace and give the royal family a big suite of rooms absolutely without charge, cost or expense and—hold your breath.

TUG OF WAR ECONOMY

The national economy is a tug of war. Within a period of a few days the Federal Reserve Board in Washington raised the discount rate and the Congress went on record as favoring further farm commodity inflation. Increasing interest costs aims to slow down an inflationary boom. Keeping agricultural prices high will restore prosperity to many farmers suffering from low price supports.

Uncle Sam's economic responsibilities are so vast that now and in the future expedient methods may have to be used. And often these methods may have to be contradictory and illogical. On the same day, America may experience inflation in some industries and deflation on some farms.

Thus, in such times as these, basing investment decisions on either inflationary or deflationary forces can very well be wrong. The bulls and the bears can make a logical case out of their arguments.

As I write these words, the railroad shares are strong and the automobile shares are weak. Ford, that stock that carried romance a few weeks ago when everybody seemed to want some, is down $15 a share and both General Motors and Chrysler are anything but strong market-wise. Several logical reasons are being offered for this price weakness and I think most of these reasons will prove to be illogical.

The more contradictory the economic forces are in the United States, the more necessary it is for investors to formulate sound policies of operation. An expedient investor seldom gets any place. But one who establishes principles does.

WEEKLY, MY mail carries

letters asking: "Should I take profits?"

Anybody who has bought good stocks in recent years has large profits. No satisfactory answer to the question about profit-taking can be made without inquiring into the nature and purpose of such action.

The dividing line between investment and speculation is often very thin. Yet there must always be a line of demarcation between them. When there is, these are good rules to observe: (1) a security bought for long pull investment should be held regardless of price fluctuations and (2) a security bought for appreciation alone or appreciation and income should be sold when the price levels are interesting.

People write me asking: "I own Standard Oil of New Jersey, Du Pont, General Motors and so on, should I take the large profits available?"

Every such question has an entirely different background. And blanket answers, yes or no, might constitute the height of folly. Most investment decisions should rest upon a solid understanding of the social and economic factors involved in the lives of the persons concerned. That is why printed advice reaching thousands of different investors often is badly timed and directed.

I can see no end of America's tug-of-war economy. Our country's prosperity is tied up with 50 basic industries and thousands of corporations. On any given day, ten of these industries may be booming and ten others suffering. Those investors who look too intently on either group are likely to make incorrect decisions.

That is why now and in the future every investor, getting away from expedient investment, should establish sound principles. And two of the very best are:

1) Buy gilt-edged stocks.

2) Diversify capital.

Rodney Brodie Back Home After 11 Months

Ferris, Ill., May 7 (AP)—Rodney Dee Brodie, the 4½-year-old survivor of a history-making Siamese twin separation operation, was back home today, 11 months after he suffered a brain hemorrhage.

Physicians at the University of Illinois Medical Center in Chicago yesterday said they considered Rodney "recovered" from the hemorrhage he suffered in May 1955.

He was in a coma for almost three days following the hemorrhage and was on the Medical Center's critical list. Then the bleeding stopped. Doctors were unable to explain it.

Royt Brodie, Rodney's father, brought his son to their farm home near Ferris. Rodney's mother, Marjorie, and his five brothers and sisters were there to greet him.

Rodney is scheduled for an "indefinite" stay at home, but is due for a clinical checkup in Chicago in four weeks.

Why We Say--

This word started in 13th century Italy where it was the practice of fitting out the young man in smart clothes before he went out to make his fortune. The word is derived from the Italian investire, to dress.

Episcopal Convention To Be Held in Utica

Syracuse, N. Y., May 7 (AP)—The Episcopal Diocese of Central New York will hold next year's convention at Grace Church, Utica.

Delegates to the 88th convention also announced Saturday they had defeated a proposal to permit women to act on parish vestries and to serve as delegates to future conventions.

The proposal, adopted by a close vote at last year's convention, needed ratification this year for adoption. Clergy delegates voted 46-43 against the proposal and lay delegates 90-87, also against it.

A proposal of Bishop Malcolm E. Peabody to name a commission on evangelism "to plan, implement and direct a practical program of lay evangelism" was adopted unanimously.

The Rev. Daniel H. Ferry of Cortland, and Robert A. Branan of Binghamton were named to the diocesan council.

Thunderstorms Hit Wide Area

(By The Associated Press)

Cold air from Canada clashed with warm, moisture-heavy currents from the Gulf of Mexico today bringing rain and thunderstorms to wide areas of the nation.

Thunderstorms occurred in a narrow belt from the central plains eastward across the Ohio valley, the middle Atlantic coast and southern New England.

Columbia, Mo., reported an overnight rainfall of nearly 1 and 1/3 inches. Pittsburgh had slightly more than an inch of rain.

VIOLENT thunderstorms in the Pittsburgh area last night brought wind gusts measured up to 70 M.P.H. The wind felled power lines leaving hundreds of homes without electricity or telephone service.

Police and firemen rescued several motorists from automobiles stalled in flash floods in the area.

The scattered heavy thunderstorms that hit Florida late yesterday tapered off today to light showers. Tallahassee reported one of the heaviest rainfalls with nearly 1 1/2 inches overnight.

LIGHT showers and drizzle occurred in the lower Great Lakes region. Light showers also were reported in the northern plains and the Rocky Mountain region.

The cold air caused temperatures to drop 10 to 20 degrees in the middle and upper Mississippi valley. Little temperature changes were reported over the rest of the country.

It was fair and mild in the southwest and southern plains early today.

Ghost Town Wedding

Rhyolite, Nev., May 7 (AP)—A young couple, married in this ghost town's first formal wedding in half a century, are spending their honeymoon prospecting for uranium in the Nevada desert.

Donna Jean Clark, 21, and Gerald C. Broderick, 25, were married Saturday by one of the town's two inhabitants—with all the trimmings of formal church rites.

H. H. Heisler, a retired minister from Macon, Ga., who recently became a justice of the peace, performed the ceremony. He and his wife came here 20 months ago and live in an abandoned railway depot, the only habitable building in this once rip-roaring wild west mining camp.

Asks Prompt Action

Washington, May 7 (AP)—Chairman Ellender (D-La.) said today he will ask the Senate Agriculture Committee to act promptly on the new House-passed soil bank bill "without additional hearings or consulting Secretary Benson."

"Our committee has been all over this ground so many times there is no need for more hearings," Ellender said, adding, "It might be possible to complete committee action in a single day. All we have to do is to take away or revise a few things and add a few."

Mock Tank Troops

Dallas, May 7 (AP)—Police today sought weekend pranksters who sneaked into a warehouse full of tractors, waged a "mock tank war" with two dozen tractors and left damage estimated at near $1,000.

Warehousemen told police someone cranked up 24 of 200 new tractors, maneuvered them dangerously about a 300 foot square leaving most with smashed radiators and some still locked together after deliberate head-on collisions.

Recruit Short Cut

Scott Air Force Base, Ill., May 7 (AP)—The air force has announced another basic training short cut for certain recruits and says it will provide the equivalent of 2,500 combat men for one year at no added cost.

Carl A. Brandt, commander of technical training for the force, said yesterday that starting June 1 two weeks will be cut off basic training for recruits going to technical schools lasting 16 weeks or more. This is expected to affect more than 60,000 trainees a year.

Navy Ships Collide

Norfolk, Va., May 7 (AP)—The escort destroyer Eaton limped slowly toward port today, a 30-foot deep gash in her side—put there by the battleship Wisconsin. The 45,000-ton battleship rammed yesterday afternoon while the two were on maneuvers as part of a task group operating off the Virginia Capes.

The weather was foggy. Navy spokesmen here said the Eaton was turning to seek a crewman reported to have fallen overboard when the Wisconsin's bow plowed into her side 100 feet aft.

Ike to Washington

Gettysburg, Pa., May 7 (AP)—President Eisenhower arranged to drive back to Washington today after a weekend of golf and rest at his farm home near here. Eisenhower played golf Saturday with some old friends and with his grandson, David, 8. Yesterday the President and Mrs. Eisenhower attended services at the Gettysburg College Chapel. The service is a feature of the college's traditional "Mother's Weekend," held annually on the Sunday before Mother's Day.

Probe Collision

Seven Persons, Alta., May 7 (AP)—Railway officials are investigating the collision of two passenger trains in which a 74-year-old woman was killed and eight other persons were injured. Mrs. Selma Reimann of Trail, B. C., died of shock when two Canadian Pacific Railway trains crashed into each other Saturday night near this southeastern Alberta town 25 miles southwest of Medicine Hat.

Eleven Deaths Occur In Weekend Mishaps

Albany, N. Y., May 7 (AP)—New York state chalked up eleven deaths in accidents over the weekend.

Seven victims between 6 p. m. Friday and midnight Sunday were traffic fatalities. Fires claimed two victims.

Two Eaton men were killed early Saturday in separate accidents six miles apart. Floyd Labarge, about 50, died when his truck struck a ditch on a road outside Morrisville in Madison county. Frederick O. Smith, 21, was killed when his car struck a tree and overturned near Oriskany Falls in Oneida county.

Mrs. Title

Daytona Beach, Fla., May 7 (AP)—Forty-nine housewives from 48 states and the District of Columbia began vying today for the title of Mrs. America 1957. They will be judged for attractiveness, adeptness at cooking, sewing, cleaning and ironing. The winner, to be crowned Saturday night, will succeed Mrs. Ramona Deitemeyer of Lincoln, Neb.

Mt. Marion Will Form Cub Pack

The second in a series of three parent-training meetings for the formation of a new Cub Pack at Mt. Marion will be held at 8 p. m. in the Reformed Church Hall on Wednesday, May 9.

Field Executive N. L. Carter of the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, has been laying the ground-work for a Cub Pack in the Mt. Marion area, and the Reformed Church has offered to sponsor the pack and to donate the hall for the monthly pack meetings.

If the turnout of parents indicates the desire for a Cub Pack, formation of the organization will take another forward step Wednesday evening.

All parents of boys of Cub Scout age, (from 8 to 10 years of age), are invited to attend the May 9 meeting.

Monday night, will succeed Mrs. Ramona Deitemeyer of Lincoln, Neb.

Boy Is Found

Montrose, Calif., May 7 (AP)—A six-year-old boy who chased a squirrel and got lost from a family outing apparently was none the worse today after 29 hours spent in rugged mile-high Mt. Wilson country. More than 100 searchers combed the area while Mr. and Mrs. George B. Storey II, the parents, kept vigil. The father, a machinist, suffers from high blood pressure and a heart condition and was near collapse before sheriff's deputies and foresters found little George B. Storey III.

Both Missing

Los Angeles, May 7 (AP)—Mystery piled on mystery today in the puzzling disappearance of a wealthy Bel-Air matron with the disclosure that her husband also has disappeared. L. Ewing Scott, subject of an exhaustive police and grand jury investigation into the year's disappearance of his wife, was last seen Tuesday.

Speaking of Dynamite

By FRANK TRIPP

A letter from a Northerner, now living in the South, has moved across my desk a dozen times, through my mind a hundred. It contains some annoying statements, and newspaper clippings.

Such as, "the Southerner actually feels that we Yankees hate him"; and reference to "the biased Northern press." All anent segregation.

The writer of it moved from New York State, has no Southern background. His are the impressions of a transplanted Yankee, gained over a limited residence among gentle Southern people, and from reading a high tensioned newspaper which, happily, all Southern papers are not.

I have re-read the letter as one that might have crossed the Mason and Dixon line when a wall of distrust and misunderstanding was building between the fathers of us all.

WITH ALL OF the earnestness that I can muster, I declare for my Northern countrymen and fellow publishers, that "we Yankees" do not hate Southerners; that there is no predominant "biased Northern press." We do have, as does the South, the over-zealous, the extremist, the noisy opinionist.

There can be ignorance of facts, unconsciousness of conditions, but there is no hatred.

Travel and communication have brought all of the people of our vast country closer together, with better understanding of sectional characteristics and ambitions. But we never will see all things, all problems, with the same eyes.

THE PRESS of any section of a large country reflects the thoughts and hopes of its community leadership. It defends their causes, fights their battles, even codifies their whims.

It knows the reasons for its own readers' thoughts and reactions. When it comments beyond that sphere it can be unaware of basic reasons that make people think and react sectionally. It can be wrong. It need not be biased.

As distance separates areas, interest in people as neighbors wanes and finally neighborliness disappears. But tolerance need not.

It is reasonable that the devout Southerner regrets the apathy of the North in the South's case against integration. It is human that he resents adverse Northern comment as bitterly as he does the political angle of integration. After all, it is he who is being integrated—against his will.

BUT HE TOO has no obligation to understand that characteristics and responsibility vary by areas among both whites and blacks. That is the real strength of his case for local determination.

He must recognize that there are countless Northern and Western communities where the high citizenship of Negroes over the years makes the Southern attitude hard to understand.

Likewise Northerners need remember that they have places where Negroes themselves practice voluntary avoidance of unwelcome segments of their own race. That there are still other places where experience brings sympathy with the Southern attitude.

THERE CAN BE no inflexible geographical dividing line of thought in an issue that involves two-sided human rights, liberties, custom and so much history. Though all may be bound by it, only the proponent or the absolute idealist blankly accepts any legislation as an immediate, sure Utopian answer to an emotional social problem. Some have miserably failed, one was repealed.

So it is unthinkable that Southerners believe that "Yankees" are viciously intolerant of them. Too many have spent much time in the glorious South. And want to be welcomed back.

Practical Nurse's Role in Future More Vital: Ike

Chicago, May 7 (AP)—President Eisenhower said today that the trained practical nurse will have "an even more vital role" on the nursing team in future years.

In a message to the 15th annual meeting of the National Assn. for Practical Nurse Education, the President added:

"As we progress in rehabilitation and nursing care for our citizens, medical hospital and nursing organizations such as yours perform a valuable service in calling to public attention the attractions of a career in practical nursing."

More than 1,200 leaders in the field of practical nursing are participating in the meeting. Miss Hilda M. Torpor, executive director of the association, said the growth of practical nursing has been a major factor in helping relieve the serious shortage of professional nurses.

She said there are now 500 accredited schools of practical nursing in which 15,000 students are enrolled, compared with four schools and total enrollment of about 200 students in 1941.

Community Concerts Series Is Sell-Out; William Warfield, Baritone, Will Sing

One of the greatest baritones of the day, William Warfield, will complete the roster for three major concerts in the Community Concert Association series next winter. Announcement of Warfield's booking came at the close of the "sold-out" membership drive Saturday.

The New York Philharmonic Symphony, Dimitri Mitropoulos conducting; and Koester and Stahl, principal dancers of the Berlin opera, were previously announced for the series. All programs will be held at the Community Theatre, Broadway.

The local association, based on the organized audience plan, is in its 28th season and fifth consecutive year of sold-out houses. Next season will mark the move from the high school auditorium to the Community Theatre, a move made necessary because of the demand for memberships.

"The 1500 memberships available to fill the Community Theatre will be exhausted as soon as final returns are made from all the workers. We have sold out," Joseph A. Craig, president announced to the board of directors at the close of the one-week intensive membership campaign Saturday.

"Checks from those who have signified their desire to join but who have not paid their dues, should be sent in the first of the week in order to be registered," Mr. Craig emphasized. Admission to any concert is by membership only.

Upon learning of the success of the campaign, Mr. Craig immediately expressed his deep appreciation to the workers for a "tremendous job" and to the chairman of the campaign, Mrs. Bernard Forst and Mrs. Reynolds B. Carr; Mrs. Louis Kegler, secretary; and Leo Bernache, New York representative who assisted in the drive.

Warfield made his concert debut in New York as recently as March 1950 and in a phenomenally short period of time has become an international star of first rank. He has appeared repeatedly as guest soloist with major symphony orchestras and oratorio societies and has been featured in many leading festivals throughout the United States.

He has starred in the revival of "Porgy and Bess," which so successfully toured this country and Europe, is noted for his moving portrayal and matchless singing of "Ol' Man River" in MGM's "Showboat," and has appeared on top television and radio shows such as The Voice of Firestone, Toast of the Town and Telephone Hour.

Called "Singing Ambassador to the World," Warfield last spring was the only American soloist to perform with the Philadelphia Orchestra on its first tour of the European continent, a tour sponsored by the American National Theatre and Academy. He is now touring North America in recitals and as soloist with such leading orchestras as the New York Philharmonic. His assisting artist is Dr. Otto Herz, well-known accompanist, who is associate director of the New York College of Music.

His program includes arias, lieder, folk songs, the versatility of which may be heard on Columbia Masterwork Records.

Koester and Stahl, principal dancers of the Berlin Opera, will be making their first American tour next season. Their revues are rave notices following their European tours. Their characterizations range from Old Viennese to Spanish and Hawaiian dances as well as their virtuosic Salome and electric Hamlet.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H.* At your druggist. Money back guarantee.

Good Taste Today

By EMILY POST
(Author of Etiquette, Children Are People, etc.)

BRINGING ALONG UNINVITED GRANDCHILD
Today's first letter tells me: "My husband and I invited us for a week. She accepted our invitation and we were looking forward to seeing her. I received a letter from her in this morning's mail telling me when she will arrive and also that she is going to bring her grandchild with her. We had not counted on this and it upsets all the plans we have made. Is there anything I can do about this without causing hurt feelings in the family?"

I am more than sorry to have to tell you that there is nothing to do but hope she will fit in with your plans better than you are imagining.

Strange Point of View
Dear Mrs. Post: My husband's father has been dead for five years now but his mother insists upon celebrating her wedding anniversary each year and is very much put out if she does not receive cards, or gifts, from her children on this day. I have always thought that when one's spouse is deceased wedding anniversaries were no longer celebrated. Will you please give me your opinion?

Answer: I have to say that I agree with you. In fact, I can't think of any widow sharing your mother-in-law's point of view. There is nothing, however, to do but be as sympathetic as you can to avoid causing her distress.

Engagement Announcements
Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter will soon announce her engagement and as we have many friends and relatives living throughout the country who will not see the announcement in the newspaper, would it be proper to send engraved announcements of the engagement?

Answer: I'm sorry, but engraved announcements of an engagement are in very bad taste. The wording can be very short, but must be a hand-written note or telephoned message.

Twenty serving questions and answers are included in Mrs. Post's booklet No. 504, "The Etiquette of Table Setting." Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 25 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Hospitals Big Employers in U. S. Cities

Robert Schnitzer, the administrator of Kingston Hospital, said today that National Hospital Week, being observed from May 6-12, presents an unusual opportunity to learn more about the challenges and opportunities in hospital careers.

He pointed to the important role of the hospital as an employer in the community. Hospitals employ more than 1,200,000 full-time personnel in the nation, he said.

"Hospitals constantly need new personnel to perform the tasks brought about by rapid medical advance," the administrator observed. "As diagnostic and therapeutic procedures have become more complex and varied, it has led to a division of labor in rendering medical services."

He said that in spite of expanding educational facilities for training health personnel, "population growth and greater demands for health services have resulted in a shortage of many types of personnel." He urged that if adequate health care is to be provided, there must be "a real effort to attract youngsters into the health professions." Mr. Schnitzer recommended that persons interested in health careers get in touch with the hospital during National Hospital Week for more information about vocational opportunities.

Dog Finds Boy

Fiumicino, Italy, May 7 (AP)—A 10-month old boy, buried for 16 hours in beach sands by an unwed mother who said she couldn't feed him, was alive and well today—thanks to a hunting dog. Police held the 36-year-old mother on an open charge. They quoted her as saying, "I had nothing to give him." The baby had been buried in a foot-deep hole on the beach west of Rome. Two hunters followed their dog to the spot Sunday morning. They found part of the baby's head and one hand exposed after the dog had pawed away the sand. The baby's body was blue. Emergency treatment restored him to normal in a few hours. Police said the mother has three other children.

In 1951 she came to the United States as a displaced person and later that year, in Utica, married George Potapov. Mrs. Potapov worked here in a hospital diet kitchen.

350 Homes Destroyed

Shimokawa, Hokkaido, Japan, May 7 (AP)—A fire fanned by 50 mile an hour winds destroyed 350 of the 450 homes in this northern Japan lumbering town today. Fifteen persons were injured and some 1,500 homeless, the newspaper Asahi reported. The fire started about 1 p. m., in a home in the Ichinohashi district, which was almost wiped out. Dry weather, strong wind and a lack of water pressure hampered some 300 Japanese soldiers who helped fight the blaze.

Votes Light

make any new, last-minute predictions.

THEY ENDED their campaigns Sunday night with televised election-eve appeals for votes.

Tydings served 24 years in the Senate until Republican Sen. John Marshall Butler defeated him in 1950 in a bitter campaign, in which Butler drew support from Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and some of his supporters. Tydings had been chairman of a Senate sub-committee investigating McCarthy's charges of Communism in the State Department. The sub-committee brought in a report which McCarthy criticized as a "white-wash" of the department.

DURING THE campaign a composite photograph—purporting to show Tydings in amiable conversation with former Communist party leader Earl Browder—was distributed in Maryland. A special Senate investigating group later said "backstreet" tactics were used in the campaign.

Mahoney is making his fourth try for statewide office. He won the nomination for the Senate in 1952 but lost to Republican J. Glenn Beall in the Eisenhower sweep although he piled up the most votes ever given a Maryland Democrat. His other unsuccessful bids were in the gubernatorial primaries of 1952 and 1954.

In the 1940's, he created a sensation with his crusade against horse doping and race fixing while chairman of the State Racing Commission. Butler, prospective opponent for Tydings or Mahoney, had two opponents for the Republican x x x senatorial nomination, but both were newcomers to politics whose campaigns failed to draw much enthusiasm. The other Republican senator, Beall, is not up for reelection until 1958.

Student Killed

Ferrisburg, Vt., May 7 (AP)—University of Vermont student Benjamin L. Lasbury, 20, of Windsor Hill, Conn., was killed and two other students injured last night when their car struck a utility pole on Route 7. William J. Ireland, 19, of New Milford, Conn., and Miss Barbara Loweth, 18, of New Rochelle, N. Y., were taken to Mary Fletcher Hospital in Burlington where officials said their injuries were not critical. The trio was trapped in the car for more than an hour before help arrived, police said.

Three Drowned

Hughes, Ark., May 7 (AP)—A foully commode in the bathroom of a 20-foot steel houseboat flooded the craft yesterday. Three people drowned when it sank. The houseboat heeled over in Horseshoe Lake shortly after it was anchored about 50 feet from the bank about 1 a. m. Eleven persons were aboard for a family fishing party.

Javits Claims He Is Ignored As Member of State Cabinet

New York, May 7 (AP)—Atty. Gen. Jacob K. Javits says Gov. Averell Harriman is ignoring him as head of an important state department.

"In a practical way," Javits declares, "I am not considered and not dealt with as being in the governor's cabinet."

Javits, New York's top elected Republican state official, protested his alleged treatment by the Democratic governor yesterday in a transcribed radio program, "Let's Find Out" over WCBS.

Javits said during the interview: "I don't meet with the governor and his cabinet officials. Many political decisions I read about for the first time in the newspapers."

Asked for an opinion on the Harriman administration in the past year and a half, Javits called it "pretty pedestrian" and "run-of-the-mill."

"On the other hand," he added, "you can't condemn it and say it has been exceptionally bad."

High Falls Man Suffers Wound Cleaning Rifle

Jerome Hodes, 48, of High Falls, was admitted to Kingston Hospital late Saturday afternoon with a "badly mangled right hand" suffered when a .22 caliber rifle accidentally discharged while he was cleaning it.

Sgt. Robert Quick and Cpl. Edward Shannon, BCI, who investigated, said Mr. Hodes fired the rifle a couple of times in his back yard after cleaning it, then placed the butt of the gun on the ground with his hand over the muzzle and was leaning on it when it discharged.

The bullet struck the palm of his right hand, passing through the palm, they said. Fortunately, it struck no bones.

He was treated by Dr. Anthony Tocco and removed to the hospital where his condition is reported good. Time of the mishap was set at 5 p. m.

Suffocated in the smoky blaze were Mrs. William Rediker; two sons, Stewart, 12, and Kenneth, 14; her daughter, Bonnie Joy, 5; and a maid.

The maid was identified only as "Henrietta."

Fire Chief George Woods said that Mr. Rediker was away in New York city at the time of the tragedy.

She and her husband, Will, are both licensed radio operators. He set up a portable short wave transmitter at her bedside Friday and made the first contact from their Pattonville home that night. Clark said his wife, who gave birth to a son last Wednesday, spoke with him and their other two children, then asked him: "Are the dishes done?"

State Police Are Busy on Weekend

Kingston state police spent a busy weekend, handling several vehicular accidents and a raft of small stuff, including an SOS from a lady who couldn't get a skunk out of her house.

The lady, Elizabeth Morrissey, of the metropolitan area, arrived late Saturday afternoon at her summer cottage on the Morgan Hill road off Route 28A.

Dusk was beginning to settle and in the half light of her cottage she saw "some kind of animal run across the floor." She called Kingston state police.

Trooper William Shurter was dispatched to the scene. Arriving, he found a large skunk—odorless, fortunately—ensconced in the bedroom closet. Failing in efforts to remove the animal, Trooper Shurter decided "to take the easy way out." He set up a narrow path lined with tables, chairs, etc., from the bedroom closet to the back porch, setting some food on the porch. Mrs. Morrissey made arrangements to spend the night at the home of a neighbor.

Sunday morning an investigation disclosed that the skunk had vacated the premises.

More Power Is Called for to Start Bias Probes

New York, May 7 (AP)—Chairman Charles Abrams of the state commission against discrimination today renewed an appeal that the unit be given power to initiate probes of bias.

The commission presently can act against discrimination only after it receives a specific complaint. Gov. Averell Harriman asked the legislature earlier this year for wider powers for the commission but was turned down.

Abrams discussed discrimination in a speech prepared for a meeting of the citizens councils of the state commission against discrimination.

"IT IS MANIFEST . . ." he said, "that the commission can no longer grapple with its problems through a predominantly judicial approach, but must assume the more positive role of initiating investigations in depth into discrimination in employment, up-grading, apprenticeship, housing . . ."

"It is clear that the solution will not be advanced solely through litigations between the isolated laborer and the billion-dollar corporation on a judicial basis unless the commission has at least the facilities and the powers with which to gather the facts and determine the real obstructions."

Turning to the national scene, Abrams said there is danger of "southern standstillism" and "northern fear" uniting in an alliance against Negro rights.

HE SAID AREAS "with a high tolerance level like New York must continue to take and hold the moral offensive" and "hold the line against a general leveling down of the national standard."

Another speaker, Mayor Robert F. Wagner, also discussed discrimination in the north and south.

"I do not pretend that the millennium has arrived or is even approaching in the area of race relations in the City of New York," he said. "But it is certainly true that all men of goodwill of whatever race, religion or national origin are joined in the forthright support of any and all efforts to eliminate bigotry and prejudice."

Yesterday Abrams said in an interview on a radio program that job opportunities for Negroes on railroads have improved while employment in building and construction trades is still limited.

Paltz GOP Club To Hold Rally

The New Paltz Republican Club will sponsor a rally Wednesday, May 9 at 8 p. m. at the municipal building.

Expected to attend the rally are Dr. E. Ogden Bush, Republican candidate to succeed Senator Arthur H. Wickes, who recently retired, as member of the state senate from this district.

Attorney Charles C. Gaffney, candidate for surrogate, Claude Bell, candidate for sheriff and Coroner Michael A. Galitta, incumbent candidate for coroner, will also attend.

A social hour and refreshments will follow a short business session at which officers for the coming year will be elected.

During 1955, 245,000 Americans died of cancer, while 36,000 were killed in motor accidents.

Jail Tour

Oklahoma City, May 7 (AP)—More than 3,000 persons went to jail here yesterday—voluntarily. The occasion was the first "open house" at the Oklahoma City police station in 25 years. Exhibits on criminals, crime detection, check forgery, narcotics and other forms of mayhem caught the eyes of the crowd that paraded through the six-story building for six hours.

It has been proved by radioactive chemicals that fish actually do drink.

Careful Defense
Sets Four Bid

BY OSWALD JACOBY

North's overall of two no-trump in today's hand was the "unusual" no-trump overall, asking South to bid a minor suit. South felt strong enough to respond at the level of four, since he had side strength in hearts and a singleton spade to make up for the weakness of his club holding.

With a normal 3-2 break in clubs South would have experienced little trouble with his contract. The bad break and careful defense were enough to give South a bad time.

Harriman Blamed For Betraying State Dairymen

Albany, May 7 (AP)—The Republican state chairman says that Gov. Harriman, in advocating rigid farm price supports, is "betraying New York dairymen in order that he might win presidential support for his presidential aspirations."

"No governor of New York ever has demonstrated such cold indifference to the welfare of our dairy farmers," L. Judson Morhouse said in a letter sent to state officers of the New York State Grange and to more than 800 local Grange masters throughout the state.

"Mr. Harriman underscored his own lack of initiative by vetoing smugly Republican bills providing progressive action to improve the economic lot of our dairymen," the letter, which was released today, said.

Morhouse said the governor's veto of five Republican dairy bills was "inexcusable." He said these bills would have:

1. Liberalized qualifications in granting milk dealer licenses in monopoly market areas.
2. Authorized the use of gallon containers for retail sale of milk.
3. Permitted the retail sale of 200 quarts daily, instead of 100, at the farm.
4. Given milk vending machines unqualified statutory exemption from dealer license requirements.
5. Ended the requirements that a license applicant must acquire equipment before seeking a license.

"The dairy farmers of New York certainly have strong reason to remember this next fall if the city bosses nominate Mr. Harriman for president and again in 1958 if the boss of Tammany Hall in New York City permits Mr. Harriman to run for reelection as governor," the GOP state chairman said.

Miami, Fla., May 7 (AP)—Police have high hopes of locating the man who robbed a rent-a-car agency of $220, if he doesn't change his suit. Officers said he was described as wearing a gray flannel suit—a costume about as common in summertime Miami as white ducks in a coal mine.

Carter, maintenance superintendent for Armo Steel Corp., Montcoal, W. 200 Attend Kingston Bowling Association's 20th Anniversary

By JIMMY BRESLIN
NEA Staff Correspondent

The story of Tommy Jackson easily could be told in two talks with Rex Layne.

The first was in a canvas-walled cubbyhole at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena. Layne had just fallen apart in the sixth round of his bout against Jackson and he was slumped on a chair, thoroughly exhausted.

"You're some guy," he said to Teddy Brenner, the matchmaker. "This guy is an octopus. Keep your matches to yourself from now on."

This was in January of 1954 and the tall, crazy-styled fighter they call Hurricane was threatening to become an exciting challenger—the million dollar gate—for Rocky Marciano.

But talk to Layne again—this time at Detroit's Olympia last Oct. 7. The result had been the same—a sixth round knockout for Jackson. But this time, Layne wasn't exhausted. He was dripping blood from two king-sized cuts above his eyes, which had caused the referee to stop the fight when he was ahead.

"I can't fight any more," Layne said. "But neither can Jackson."

There are many who subscribe to this. The Hurricane of 1954, the punch-throwing freak who obliterated such as Dan Bucceroni, has turned, many claim, into a docile fighter who clumsily tries orthodox boxing.

"This clown?" old Joe Woodman roars from a seat in Stillman's Gymnasium. "He don't know how to fight. This is the worst crop of heavyweights we've ever had. Even worse than when Tunney retired. And they were poor."

In the ring, Jackson, decked out in red sweat togs and red socks sticking above his boxing shoes, danced. He never stopped shadow boxing.

Even when Whitey Bimstein, his trainer, brought him over, he kept jiggling.

"Floyd Patterson used to be my best friend," he said. "But we is no more friends. 'Bout a year ago, we trained together in Jersey. My manager and his manager let us spar together. So I'm going along nice and light."

"But Patterson is throwing punches. Bang! Bang! Then I hear his manager saying, 'Take it easy on him.' Then he hits me and my eye got cut."

"So I say, 'What is this? He's the little boy and I'm the big man and they're telling him to take it easy. He's no friend of mine.' So I stepped out. Only time I'll box him is in a fight now."

"He makes big talk on how good he is. Well, why don't he fight somebody good? He never had nobody round to get a bolt to him. He always in with some little child. Wait'll I get a bolt to him."

A Jackson-Patterson match is almost accepted by the boxing mob as a prelude to somebody meeting Archie Moore for the title—and there are many who feel that Jackson, while he can't fight, is strong enough to bother Patterson.

"He takes a punch," Woodman, the old-time manager, says, "and he's liable to climb all over the other guy. Patterson ain't fought anybody and Jackson may be too strong for him at this stage. But I don't like either of 'em."

Could Patterson, you ask Trainer Freddie Brown, take out Jackson?

"Nobody is gonna knock Jackson out," he said, emphatically. "If they make the fight 12 rounds he'll chase Patterson outta the ring."

"All I know," Bob Baker, the heavyweight, said, "is that I hit Jackson as hard as I ever hit a man and nothing happened. I can't see him getting knocked out."

So Hurricane Tommy Jackson, as you find out on the boxing beat, may have lost a lot of his old push.

But he still is a formidable man for the pretenders to Rocky Marciano's title.

U.S. Track World Hails Bailey On New American Mile Record

Los Angeles, May 7 (AP)—Australian John Landy gets another chance to break his mile record at Fresno on Saturday but he won't get another shot at his conqueror and fellow countryman Jim Bailey until fall.

Bailey, the University of Oregon junior and collegiate mile champion beat Landy and smashed the American mile record here Saturday with a 3:58.6 performance—the first mile ever run under four minutes in the United States.

NEXT ON JIM'S calendar is the Pacific Coast Conference northern division meet which won't permit a rematch with Landy at Fresno's West Coast Relays. Then Bailey will run in defense of his NCAA title and in August head back to Australia in quest of a spot on the Olympic team.

That's when the business student whose home is in Sydney, will probably next meet schoolmaster Landy of Melbourne.

"I'm confident of running better at Fresno," said Landy after losing by a stride to his countryman. "I was satisfied with the time. I didn't think he'd run better than 4:02."

JOHN WAS clocked at 3:58.7, compared with his world mark of 3:58 set in 1954 at Turku, Finland. He made no excuses for his defeat by the powerful Bailey who took over the lead about 110 yards from the finish. He'd started his move with 220 left and thought his nearness would just give Landy impetus to go on to a fast time.

"I didn't think I could do it," said the 26-year-old Australian of his victory.

Landy recalled, "at about the 151-meter point (approximately 120 yards from the finish) he tapped me on the seat of the pants so as to say, 'let's go.' So I knew it was Bailey." Then John added:

"Bailey is the strongest runner I've ever run against. He's tremendously strong. I've never seen him beaten in a tight finish."

The national hospital bed deficit has been estimated as over 800,000 beds.

Growth of Sport

Greetings of the American Bowling Congress were extended to the Kingston Bowling Association by national president, Frank G. Mitzel of Detroit, at the KBA's 20th anniversary dinner-dance Saturday night at the Governor Clinton hotel.

Two hundred persons assembled in the Crystal Room heard Mr. Mitzel praise the Kingston organization for its record and achievements over a 20-year period.

Besides Mr. Mitzel the diners heard an imposing array of bowling personalities introduced by the toastmaster, Charles J. Tiano, a life member of the KBA.

Among the visiting dignitaries who spoke briefly were:

Mayor William Landgraf of Island Park, L. I., newly appointed assistant historian of the American Bowling Congress.

John O. Martino of Syracuse, past president and life member of the American Bowling Congress.

Ray J. Hover of New York, former president of the New York State and New York Bowling Association.

Robert G. Lynch, eastern representative of the American Bowling Congress.

George Woodward of Brooklyn, former treasurer of the Bowling Association.

MAYOR FRED STANG congratulated the KBA on its 20th anniversary celebration and said bowling had contributed much to the sports and social life of the community.

Peter Keresman, co-founder and first president of the KBA, spoke of the early days of organization and the difficulties encountered by the pioneers.

Emmanuel "Mannie" Colao, president of the Kingston Bowling Association, extended the welcome of the organization.

President Mitzel spoke of the tremendous growth of organized bowling pointing out that the ABC now has sanctioned city associations in Alaska, Hawaii and Canal Zone and six in European army installations; 32 in England, France, Italy, Germany.

THE ABC HAS also penetrated into the U. S. Far East Command, Korea, Japan and some of the South Pacific islands, he said.

The president had warm praise for the current ABC setting at the War Memorial Auditorium at Rochester.

"It is without question one of the most beautiful layouts in ABC tournament history," said Mitzel.

Taking cognizance of the presence of several prominent New York state bowling figures on the dais, Mr. Mitzel lauded New Yorkers for their contribution to the growth and advancement of the American Bowling Congress. He mentioned among others the late Jim Wilson, former treasurer of the ABC; Al Lattin and George Obenauer, secretary of the Hudson Valley Bowling Association.

MR. MITZEL reported great progress in American Junior Bowling Congress development and revealed that the armed services were indirectly responsible for growth of the tenpin sport in the southern part of the country.

"Many young men from the south who had never seen a bowling ball before they were attached to some army installation with bowling alleys are now responsible for propagating the sport in the south," Mr. Mitzel pointed out.

Mr. Mitzel interspersed his serious comments with some of the delightful stories that have made him one of the most sought after speakers in the bowling world.

Also seated on the dais were Conrad J. Heiselman and Oscar V. Newkirk, former mayors of Kingston; County Judge Louis G. Bruhn, life member of the KBA; Burgess "Whitey" Crispell, president-elect of the KBA; Addison Jones, life member; Irwin J. Thomas, secretary; and Bert Rhea of Poughkeepsie, secretary of the Hudson Valley League.

Among the personalities introduced were life members: Gilbert Sampson and Howard Spaulding; Emil Boessneck of the original KBA board; Tom Orr, John Fatum, Ralph Harper, treasurer-elect; Bob Markle, Larry Petersen Jr., Jake Chichelsky, Doug Alverson, Randall Kelder, secretary-elect; area bowling proprietors and Albert Kurdt, manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

The program concluded with entertainment by The Carnavales and dancing.

There are more than 100 glaciers in the United States, most being in the Rockies and the Cascade range of Washington and Oregon.

Giants Recall White; Harries Goes to Farm

St. Louis, May 7 (AP)—The New York Giants today brought up Bill White from their Minneapolis American Assn. farm club to play first base.

Manager Bill Rigney said White could be in the lineup against the St. Louis Cardinals tonight.

In return, the Giants are sending Gail Harris to Minneapolis. Harris has been playing first base for the Giants, but his batting average is only .132. White is hitting .292 with Minneapolis.

8th Inning Rally Brings Victory

A three-run rally in the eighth inning brought New Paltz State Teachers College its first baseball victory of the season Saturday at the Paltz field, an 8-7 success over Waterbury College of Connecticut.

Trailing 6-5, the Hawks nudged the winning runs across and then held off a desperate ninth inning uprising by the visitors to cop their initial decision in four starts.

Dick King, who followed two other Paltz hurlers to the mound and wound up with the verdict, started the comeback with a double. John Hussnatter promptly delivered King with a single that tied the score.

things going. Tom Murphy hit to shortstop and when the throw was late at home Hussnatter scored with the lead run. A single by Bob Miller got Annacone, who was running for Capozzi, over with what proved to be the winning margin.

Waterbury got one of the runs back in the ninth when center fielder Berg homered. The New Englanders had runners on first and second when King picked losing pitcher Allen off the second base bag to end the game.

King took over the pitching chores in the fifth from DiPerna who had relieved starter Levine with Paltz leading 5-4. Murphy's solo home run in the third highlighted a three-run rally which snapped a 2-2 tie.

WATERBURY COLLECTED 13 hits with shortstop Cardegan and catcher Basile getting three apiece. New Paltz got nine safeties off Allen and starter Dayton including Saunders' double.

Others on the banquet committee are past president Woodrow Sperl and Leonard Sinnott, captain elect of West Camp team.

To Lead or Not to

Braves 'Trail' 2 Clubs But 'Lead' in National

By JACK HAND
The Associated Press

Bring out the slide rule, the electronic brain and a do-it-yourself kit if you want to figure out the National League standings. The rain, the cold and the weird "spring" leave a tangle fit for a math thesis.

Milwaukee leads the league by 20 percentage points but it trails second-place Cincinnati by a full game. That's bad enough but it gets worse. The Braves also are a half game behind St. Louis which is third on percentages.

Actually, it's all academic. If the season ended today, Milwaukee would win the pennant for percentages tell the final story. The problem arises from the fact that Milwaukee has played only nine games in almost three weeks while the Redlegs have played 17 and Cardinals 16.

TED KLUSZEWSKI hit his second and third homers in four games since his return to the starting lineup in Cincinnati's double victory. Gus Bell also hit two and Frank Robinson one for the Redlegs off Phillie pitching. Del Ennis homered for the Phils.

Brooks Lawrence won the first with a complete game and Hershel Freeman took the second on relief with the defeats going to Jim Owens and Saul Rogovin. Musial's eighth homer beat the Giants in the first game at St. Louis. It was his third hit of the game and it came off Allan Worthington, who had just taken over on relief. Jackie Collum was the relief winner.

Mays opened the Giants' winning rally in the ninth of the second game with a single and stole second, his fourth theft of the game. Daryl Spencer's double off Vinegar Bend Mizell tied the score and Dusty Rhodes' single off Ellis Kinder won it for reliever Steve Ridzik.

KLINE singled off loser Paul Minner in the fifth and scored on Gene Freese's double for the decisive run in the Pirates' victory at Chicago. Bob Friend, Pirate ace, was clobbered in the second game and left after one inning. Bob Skinner and Frank Thomas of Pittsburgh and Ernie Banks of Chicago hit homers in the tie game.

Ford, Coleman and Konstanty did a fine job for the Yanks in their sweep over Chicago. Yogi Berra hit his eighth homer with one on and Hank Bauer hit sixth in the first game attack on Jack Harshman. A feature of the second game found Catcher Berra completing a double play by dashing to third base to tag Luis Aparicio, trying to go from first to third on an infield out.

Everybody hit for Kansas City, especially Gus Zernial, whose five hits lifted him from 298 to 325 in the averages. Zernial smashed two homers.

The Braves suffered their seventh rainout in the last 10 days yesterday at home and estimate they have lost forever over 150,000 admissions. A virtual sellout had been assured for the game with Brooklyn in the 43,117-seat County Stadium Sunday. The Braves' ticket director said "unless there's a tremendous amount of interest and a tight race we'll be hard put to have another two million season attendance."

THE RESULTS that complicated the league standings saw Cincinnati win a pair from Philadelphia 10-2 and 11-9 and St. Louis split with New York. Stan Musial's homer won the first for the Cards 5-4 and Willie Mays' single and fourth stolen base helped the Giants come from behind to take the second 5-4.

Pittsburgh edged Chicago 2-1 with Ronnie Kline throwing a six-hitter and scoring the winning run. The Pirates and Cubs then played a 6-6 tie, called after seven innings because of rain.

No trouble figuring out the standings in the American League, where the New York Yankees have started to pull away from the field with a 2 1/2 game lead over idle Cleveland and a four-game bulge on Chicago and Boston, tied for third.

Whitey Ford shut out Chicago with eight hits 4-0 and Rip Coleman by the same score in the second game yesterday before 49,016, the season's largest crowd.

Kansas City continued to club the ball, slugging Washington pitchers for a total of 29 hits in a doubleheader romp 10-7 and 13-3. Baltimore dumped Detroit into the cellar by winning two 6-2 and 4-3. Cleveland and Boston were rained out at Fenway Park.

Saugerties Club Releases 1000 Trout in Area

More than 1,000 trout purchased from Paradise Brook Trout Farm were distributed in Saugerties area waters by members of Saugerties Fish and Game Club Sunday.

The trout averaging eight inches comprised Brown, Brook and Rainbow.

"Anglers Notice" display cards were posted by Casper Miller of the posting committee. The posters list the privileges granted to the anglers by the property owner and how the sportsman may preserve these privileges.

THE TROUT were tagged to initiate a study of movement and growth. The local club requests that anyone catching a tagged trout, report such catch to Basil J. Kane, 15 Bennett avenue, Saugerties.

The information required of tagged trout is as follows: tag number, species of trout, size, where caught (within a quarter of a mile) and type of lure used. The tags are ivory in color and are stamped with Mr. Kane's former address, Butler, N. J.

The cooperation of every fisherman in reporting tagged trout will ultimately improve the sport, said club secretary Frank C. Sloboda.

Yankees—became first pitcher in majors to compile 4-0 record by shutting out White Sox with eight hits 4-0 in first game of doubleheader.

Are You getting this kind of ACTIVE Insurance Service from Your Agent?

I NEEDED HELP...AND I KNEW WHO TO CALL!

I never expected to have an accident, but when it did happen, it was a comfort to know I had my friendly KAIA man to call for help.

Even though it was late I didn't hesitate to call because I knew my KAIA friend would be ready and willing to give me whatever help I needed.

He came immediately and brought the local Kemper claim man with him. They talked to witnesses and got all the details of the accident.

The lawyers retained by the Kemper organization were a big help in court. They argued my case convincingly and proved to the court that I was not at fault.

The wonderful protection and service I got from my KAIA insurance friend was no accident. He and I sat down and planned it that way — months before.

At the time of our planning he also told me about the 848 claim experts all over the Nation who would serve me anywhere I traveled.

My KAIA agent offers dividends — which interest me as much as planning and service. I've received dividends yearly since I switched to Kemper.

Tape-Recorded Romance

Cairo, Egypt, May 7 (AP)—A California disc jockey and his teen-eyed sweetheart of the Nile—who met face-to-face for the first time yesterday after a long-distance tape-recorded romance—say they'll marry next week.
